Useless Keys
Described as "heavy space rock," the Useless Keys, made up of Michael Earl, Michael Regilio, (Guitar/Keys), Davin Givhan (Bass/Vox), and Jerry... have gained a loyal following to their enchanting sound, giving their fans stay for life. They're quickly gaining popularity along the West Coast and have press for their first self-released EP, "Is the Painting Changing." The band's sound and poignant lyrics are vivid on, "White Noise" to the dreamy "Arizona Ways." This summer, the band has been touring the Southwest. They have plans to the East Coast in the fall to promote their second EP, giving the release a buzz for both music journalists and fans alike.

Chanel Ryan
Chanel's career began in her teens as a model. She's been working on major commercials and editorial campaigns in the last few years, and has now leaped to film. This year, she booked a role in "Small Apartments," directed by Jonas Akerlund, "Saum Rocks," with Alice Cooper and Jon Stewart, "Bad Kids Go to Hell," and the already acclaimed "Witches of Oz," directed and written by Leigh Scott. Chanel's career is sure to soar this year unlike ever before. She is also an animal lover and dedicated animal rights activist. Chanel is one to watch for.

Ernest Sturm
Former model turned entrepreneur, Ernest Sturm found a clever way to offer the best of the modeling industry for companies looking to add a fashion spark to their events. As a former model, he understood the instability of the industry, and founded Runway Waiters. His professionalism and savvy business skills have led him to work with clients such as Hermes, Louis Vuitton, Cavali, the Von Furstenbergs, and many others. His company is the only company in L.A., working with models signed exclusively by some of the biggest agencies in the world.

Emanuela Belleza
Originally from Italy, Emanuela is garnering a following in both English and Spanish. She is a classically trained musician since childhood and a graduate of the Music Institute of Hollywood. She was named as one of the top 100 unsigned artists of 2011 and won a Hollywood Music in Media Award for her single, "Stay with Me." Her inspiration as a singer, songwriter, and performer has come from the late singer Selena re-did a cover of "Bidi Bidi Bom Bom." Emanuela has all of the makings of an international star.

Known for her opinionated and colorful works of celebrity and fashion icons, pop artist Ashley Longshore continues to evoke inspiring and provocative pieces for the world to talk about. Felix caught up with Longshore to talk about her collections, her collaborations, and the icons she paints. We couldn't help but fall a little in love with the feisty, sailor-mouthed woman behind the paint brush!

Christina Rosas Anastasiou: You have collaborated with some major brands. What was the creative process like for you working with Chloé and Anthropologie? Is there another collaboration in the works?

Ashley Longshore: Chloé was fast and furious. I created the painting to be unveiled at Art Basel at the Soho House 2012. It was fun. It was a fun job to create a piece that represented the last 60 years of their brand. My Anthropologie collaborations are so much fun; they are so amazing to work with. They have sent me all over the world doing fun projects. I have been collaborating with them for over 4 years now. We have some really, really fun exciting new goodies coming out this fall and spring of next year! I love collaborations with big brands. My dream is Louis Vuitton. I would also love to do a collaboration with a champagne brand, like Moët. Who knows, maybe something will pop up with them.

CRA: Do you feel that art these days is making an impact on pop culture, or is it vice versa?

Invited to cover movie premieres & junkets, tv shows, fine art previews, the Met Gala previews, product launches, fashion weeks, award shows and more!
