ABOUT ME

I'm a Canadian currently living in New York. I fell in love with traveling the first time I flew to Hong Kong when I was a kid, and since then I have been exploring new destinations each year. I love experiencing different cultures and also trying the local food! I have also always taken a lot of pictures while traveling or even at home, turning every moment into unforgettable memories. My Instagram and blog share these moments -- my adventures in New York, my journey in self-discovery, and experiences traveling the world.

Asianmapleleaf showcases vacation destinations, unique experiences and culinary adventures. My goal is to inspire my followers to travel more, experience more, and love more!

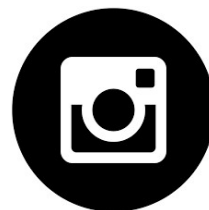

JOIN ME ON MY ADVENTURE

Collaborations will allow me to experience more and in turn, share that with my followers. It is a great way to bring awareness to your brand/destination to a more targeted and engaged audience. My followers are always interested in and asking about what I am doing.

I have had the pleasure to work with several Fairmont Hotels and Resorts, an UK watch company, local restaurants, etc. I often travel with influencer partners, which will further extend your exposure.
