Breharne Al Zoubi

www.bybreharne.com | hello@bybreharne.com

'by breharne' is my platform to communicate opinions, experiences and products that will benefit my readers.

A little over 12 months ago I created 'by breharne' as a form of personal therapy. And in that time it quickly grew into my business and brand. I write about the raw truths of motherhood and lifestyle topics that women can relate to. And I share products and experiences that they will benefit from.

Services I offer include:

- Sponsored Posts
- Social Media Promotion
- Event Attendance

I am excited to work with you and create a mutually beneficial partnership.

OUR READERS

By categorising 'by breharne' as a parenting and lifestyle blog you could say that the majority of my readers are female and aged between 18 and 40. But my readers are so much more than that. They are time poor, educated, open minded, multicultural, modern superwomen. They crave a tribe that they can relate to and learn from. They want to read about real life experiences, topics that inspire them and products and services that will boost their confidence and positively contribute to their everyday lives.
