

COHLAB NYC

by Erin Cohen

ABOUT

Erin Cohen is a personal stylist, fashion blogger and former Accessories Design Director who has worked with several major fashion houses and A-list celebrities.

She was born on a quiet street in Pittsburgh to two loving parents and an older sister and brother, who were really hoping for a dog instead of another sibling. At a young age, Erin lost her father and fell into addiction. Currently, Erin uses her platforms to showcase her eclectic style and support of addiction rehabilitation.

“

During my darkest times, fashion was the only constant in my life. So to me, it isn't materialistic items or following the latest trends - it's an emotional bond that has shaped me into who I am and gave me purpose.
