

The Judy Diaries

About the Blog

The Judy Diaries is a blog that encourages women to follow their own, unique path to discover their power, passion and purpose. I believe that in order to find wholeness and fulfillment and life, it requires a mix of all three: understanding and unlocking your true nature of being able to create the life you want, following and discovering what lights you up, with the intent to serve the planet with your unique gifts & skills.

About the Blogger

Judy Rina is a full-time content creator. She's passionate about helping women live up to their fullest potential. She loves to talk about manifesting goals & dreams, mindset, and sharing her own personal journey of creating a life filled with joy & purpose. When she's not blogging, she helps her fiancé run Pathfinder Productions, a multi-media production company that specializes in creating branded content for businesses on social media.
