ABOUT ME

I live a very busy lifestyle that I enjoy showing through small little squares. I enjoy coaching for youth league sports, advocating for mental health awareness, showing the realness of motherhood. I work as an occupational therapist while going to graduate school for Psychology. I love supporting others especially promoting businesses by promoting their products. I'm all for collaborations because ultimately, everyone succeeds and that's the kind of lifestyle I will always strive to have.

BEAUTIFUL
BUSY LIFE

What started off as a way to clear my thoughts, Beautiful Busy Life became a platform to help other moms struggling with daily life. All the to-do lists can become consuming, and it's hard for moms to remember who they were before they had children. As a writer, I share my experiences while offering advice to help make busy lives easier.
