About Life with Trotters

Life with Trotter was created in 2016 after my newlywed husband and I discovered we were having twins. The pregnancy announcement went viral as we captured giving to news to the family. The channel is young but definitely growing fast. It is about figuring out parenting multiples, maintaining a healthy marriage, wellness tips for physical and mental health, and everything that follows. The primary objective of the vlog is to be joy, motivation, and lots of laughter in between.

About Stephanie Trotter

I am a digital mommy influencer, content creator, social media personality and mental health advocate. I earned my bachelor's degree in Psychology from The University of Louisiana at Monroe and a Masters in Counseling at Dallas Baptist University. I love discussing wellness and products that enhance my experiences as mother, wife and overall well-being.
