bio.

Enrico is a landscape-lifestyle photographer and former engineer from Rome, Italy, based between the capital and the Dolomites.

With his photography he seeks to valorize off-the-beaten path locations, inspiring people to strengthen their connection with unspoiled beauty and with our planet, advocating a sustainability-centered mindset.

Driven by these core values, he often cooperates with tourism boards, hotels and outdoor-related brands for the creation of professional photo-video content, aimed to strike the marketing goals of his clients.

LET'S CREATE

I strongly believe that at the heart of a successful collaboration, there's always a strong connection among the involved parts.

Without it, creativity will run braked and the final result will not meet the client's needs.

If you feel like we're on the same page, please, don't hesitate to contact me. We'll figure out together how to endow your services the appropriate media to make them shine.
