ABOUT

My name is Kyndal McKala Reece and I am a South Carolina, based content creator focusing on fashion, beauty, and lifestyle. My Instagram focuses on helping my followers find their own personal style and educate my audience on the latest trends. I believe that empowering people to find their purpose and their style is what my personal brand is all about. I strive to put out the best content that represents not only me but also the company in the best way possible. My mission is to use my platform to inspire others to be creative, unique, and express themselves in the best way they know how to. My audience is geared towards people who are passionate about fashion, beauty, upcoming trends, fitness, and self-care.
