About Me

I've spent the past year going public with my personality and struggles; I love all things sci-fi and fantasy, and I dress to prove it. I have chronic illness, a stressful job, ADHD and a great sense of humor to compensate.

About My Account

My TikTok is very informal, with an audience that follows me as a whole person who encourages whole personhood in them. I cover: nerdy/historical fashion, ADHD tips, professional life, parenting, chronic illness, neurodivergence, bullet journaling, and slices of real life. I am credited with starting a low-budget sci-fi fashion trend in the fall of 2021. My audience is highly engaged and highly supportive.
