

WHO WE ARE

A tech YouTube channel dedicated to fun & enjoyment through information. Run by a dedicated family man looking to cure his son's rare disease. Brett always seeks to balance his passion of computer technology while never losing focus on the things that really matter in life.

Our primary strength is the ability to discuss current topics & trends in the tech community with levity, as well as depth. We desire to not only showcase tech, but bring in the audience to enjoy it with us. Attempting to mix far-flung tech ideas with the integrity of a reviewer, that's where you'll find our channel most of the time.
