Scout Canning's Charlotte Langley on why we need to rethink canned seafood

Chef Charlotte Langley started Scout Canning to pay homage to high-quality canned fish – and tells us how it can be a sustainable delicacy.

Chef Charlotte's Chowder

Exciting news for Canada's award-winning seafood advocate, chef Charlotte Langley, who is co-Founder of Scout Canning, (getjussout.ca), a company that specializes in locally and sustainably sourced canned seafood. Officially launched across Canada and the U.S. this past September, it offers a 100% North American-sourced seafood canney operating with total traceability and transparency. The company works with local fisheries coast to coast who operate to best in class sustainability standards – for additional details, check out the website. Here's a personal recipe chef Charlotte is sharing.

Brand Partnership Testimonials

"MSC Canada is very proud to have Charlotte Langley as our Chef ambassador. Chef Charlotte, a champion of sustainable seafood, has been an authentic, inspirational, and human face to the MSC identity. She has over the years successfully supported and promoted the use of our ecolabel and influencing the choices people make when buying seafood while working with our partners to transform the seafood market to a sustainable basis"

~ Kurtis Hayne, MSC Senior Fisheries & Commercial Manager
